DEPARTMENT OF PHYSICAL EDUCATION AND ATHLETICS

POLICY STATEMENT BY THE DEPARTMENT OF PHYSICAL EDUCATION AND ATHLETICS AS REQUESTED BY THE STUDENT LIFE COMMITTEE

In 1965 the Department of Physical Education and Athletics embarked on an expansion program. This project was initiated to remain relatively commensurate with and representative of the school's vast academic growth in quality and quantity, and in the overall building program undertaken in 1960. Intramural activities and clubs were increased from eight to a complete and diversified offering of thirty-two - an increase of 400% in a concerted effort to provide an opportunity to be a participant to a Loyola student population which had a corresponding increase in size. Concurrently a plan was initiated to escalate the caliber of the intercollegiate teams to a level where they would properly reflect the growth and advancement made in other disciplines of the college.
